

Supply Chain Planner

Competitive Salary and Benefits

BLANCO has over 95 years' experience in producing industry leading kitchen products. We are proud of our success and invite you to be part of it. This exciting position, suitable for a proactive individual with at least 2 years' experience working in supply chain/demand planning, is based at our UK headquarters in London Colney, Hertfordshire.

Reporting to the Supply Chain Manager, you will be responsible for creating and maintaining purchase order data, SCM master data and KPI reporting. You will coordinate priority shipments from suppliers in order to fulfil customer orders, manage goods-in bookings, minimize overstocks, and manage slow moving and obsolete stock. You will have the ability to create multiple BOMs and maintain master data records relating to supply chain in SAP.

You will have excellent interpersonal and advanced IT skills (including Excel VLOOKUP's, pivot tables etc.) and have solid experience of using a standard ERP system. You will be motivated to succeed, pay close attention to detail, and have the ability to work under pressure at times, without compromising quality and accuracy.

To apply, please send your CV to hr@blanco.co.uk

Only candidates selected for interview will be contacted.
