

Presseinformation

Press Release
Information Presse
Información de Prensa

The BLANCO ETAGON offers an even greater range of materials and sizesBrilliant concept, maximum flexibility

One bowl, two rails, three functional levels – Blanco has caused quite a sensation with this clever concept since its launch and has now gained pole position in new kitchen design. No other range of bowls offers greater convenience, functionality and diversity. The key element is the perfectly coordinated accessories, in particular two stainless steel rails designed especially for the Etagon, which create a third working level within the bowl when used with the integrated step – and can also be used just as easily away from the sink area, too. The successful bowl range is growing, with eight new designs and more size options, installation solutions and now attractive Ceramic versions.

The growing range now features five new designs for the 80 cm-wide base cabinet. The advantages of the XL bowl are obvious: large cooking grids or baking trays can be cleaned with remarkable ease, and there is always plenty of room for carrying out parallel tasks such as preparing and serving dishes – a must in kitchens today. Three of the extra-large bowls are available in stainless steel satin polish: the undermounted and flush-mounted versions, and the design featuring an integrated tap ledge. The latter may be flush-mounted or installed from above.

The range also now offers more choice in Silgranit: two built-in bowls with a tap ledge have been designed to work with the 60 cm or 80 cm base cabinet. The XL bowl is also available in a version that matches

Presseinformation

Press Release
Information Presse
Información de Prensa

Seite 2

the undermount, completing the Silgranit range with a convenient 700 mm-wide design. All of the designs are available in the Silgranit colours from the CombiColours palette, providing a harmonious match with your kitchen fittings and interior décor.

Whether your kitchen boasts a pared-back look or a modern country house style, we have the on-trend bowl you need. Two versions are now available for the first time in Ceramic PuraPlus: the Blanco Etagon 6, for inset installation, and the undermount version, Etagon 500-U, with the unique advantages of the innovative stepped bowl concept.

Etagon features a balanced, contemporary look. Designed as a single bowl, it fits unobtrusively into the kitchen and is meant for open layouts. Carefully thought-out details such as small corner radii and the modern InFino drain system only serve to emphasise the elegant design.

Numerous Blanco mixer taps can be easily combined with Etagon bowls. In addition to metallic surfaces, the many versions in Silgranit and ceramic colours allow you to find a perfect match for your sink and surrounds.

www.blanco.com

Presseinformation

Press Release
Information Presse
Información de Prensa

Seite 3

Image captions:

Image 1:

One bowl, two rails, three functions: no other range of bowls offers greater convenience, functionality and diversity than the Blanco Etagon. The clever stepped design is now also available to fit with the 80 cm base cabinet, for instance the Blanco Etagon 8 made of Silgranit.

Image 2:

Good-looking and multifunctional: the Blanco Etagon 700-IF, which also comes in an XL version. The sink ledges do not just hold the Etagon rails designed for the system. The perforated stainless steel tray also proves practical in the bowl, while you can prepare vegetables one stage up.

Image 3:

A multi-purpose bowl: the Blanco Etagon 700-IF/A in stainless steel satin polish converts into a highly convenient washing up zone in an instant after meals. You can work on three levels at once.

Image 4:

Single-bowl sinks are all the rage: two attractive versions also now come in ceramic PuraPlus, for custom kitchen designs. The Blanco Etagon 6 and Etagon 500-U (fig.) boast an innovative multi-level bowl concept that offers lots of advantages.

Photos: Blanco