BLANCO Faucets – Enhanced Performance & Colour Options.

Wealth of Finishes. Sustainable Water Consumption.

TORONTO, ON, March 2021 – BLANCO enhances their kitchen faucet collection with fresh new finishes and greater water efficiency.

The majority of BLANCO faucets have now been re-engineered from 2.2 gallons per minute (GPM) to 1.5. This provides homeowners with water-saving benefits while still delivering a strong, powerful spray. This shift to a lower GPM goes a step above the commonly used 1.8 GPM and reflects BLANCO's commitment to environmental sustainability.

In addition to increased water-efficiency standards on multiple faucet collections, two new colours are also being added across the entire faucet portfolio in both full finish and dual finish options - Coal Black and Concrete Gray. Concrete Gray is a soft shade of gray, while the much anticipated Coal Black is the perfect matte-black accent for those who love bold design.

"BLANCO recognises the need for more water-efficient products," states Edyta Drutis, BLANCO's Director of Brand & Communications for North America. "We have transformed our portfolio to provide beautiful and sustainable water-saving faucets to consumers in North America. With our colour-coordinated faucet portfolio, designers and homeowners can easily create a stylish, unified look with SILGRANIT® sinks, bar faucets and soap dispensers while keeping environmental sustainability in mind."

BLANCO faucets now have four metal finishes (Chrome, PVD Steel, Classic Steel and Stainless Steel); nine full colour finishes (Coal Black, Anthracite, Café, Cinder, Metallic Gray, Truffle, Concrete Gray, Biscuit and White); and 18 dual finishes with either Chrome or PVD Steel.
